Ganna Koryagina is raising funds for the BUREVIY Brigade, actively engaged in frontline defence operations and urgently needs specialized equipment to enhance both safety and effectiveness. A tactical kit costs circa €1,300 and is designed to support one vehicle or frontline position and includes a drone detector. Funds can be transferred through an official and transparent charitable foundation, ensuring proper use and accountability. Further details upon request. This project is managed by national guards together with this organisation
